

New Life International Fellowship
Rev. Timothy C. Geoffrion, Ph.D.
(www.fhlglobal.org; tim.geoffrion@fhlglobal.org)

January 21, 2018

“Overcome Evil with Good”

Scripture: Romans 12:17-21

A natural response to evil in the world

A better way

- James 1:20.
- Ephesians 2:10
- Galatians 6:9-10

What's possible?

- Romans 12:6-9

When we can't help those we want to help

- Michael's heartbreaking story
- The point: Focus on those you can help.

The Killing Fields: What I learned in Cambodia

Conclusion: Move toward the suffering

“Being a Christian means that when you encounter suffering and injustice you move toward it rather than away. As with fire fighters and police, we are called to run towards the fire rather than away.” –Retired pastor, Ed Sladek

Small Group Discussion Questions

How are you being moved by the suffering of others?

You may feel powerless to stop whatever is going on, but what can you do to bring more light and love into the darkness that you encounter on a daily basis?

How is the Spirit prompting you to respond to the evil you are experiencing or observing in the world?